God's Vision

2015

I call myself Jonah, reluctant and disobedient because God called me not only to share the vision He gave me but to honor Him by sharing what I have learned from it. I have been avoiding it for twenty years. He gave me a vision to share with the world and like Jonah I chose to hide—and escape into various distractions, always with the image of the vision God gave me in the back of my mind.

I had great anxiety, and did not feel any release from this urgency to tell this story—until I started writing it, and making plans to publish it. Why is this story so important? I believe God wants people to know that He is alive; He is not a ghost or a phantom; He is as real as the morning breeze brushing across your face.

He wants to be understood and for “man” that He created to trust and “believe” in Him. He has given us the gift of His son Jesus: He watched Him bleeding, dying, suffering; just so sinful, unworthy man could have redemption. When we think of God—I don’t believe we understand that it is painful for Him to watch us sin; to watch us suffer. The consequences of our sins is also painful—death, pain and sickness. When Jesus came to Earth God offered man a solution, a promise, a reassurance that this earthly suffering will one day come to an end. With this promise we have an understanding that “death” is not the end of our lives. We have a second chance to live with our Father forever in paradise—no more sin, death, chaos, sickness; no more pain. Millions of believers carry this promise within their hearts every day. I am one of those believers. In this vision God has left no doubt in my mind that He is real—and that He keeps His promises.

I hope after you read my story it will give you the courage and the strength to change your life; to truly become a believer. Many are often filled with doubt and fear—living their lives thinking there is nothing after death. But that is not true—God’s words are true. The greatest gift man can give to God his creator, is to truly believe in Him.

Believing is a choice, the evidence is there—I choose to believe in the promise of God. He has made himself known to me so many times. When I falter and fail, like a loving parent He is there to pick me up and place me back on my feet. God is so loving, patient, and kind—this story is one of my greatest experience with my loving Father. I hope after you read it, it will help you to make the choice to give your life to Him; believe fully, and see how your life will evolve and change. It is one of the greatest gifts you will give to yourself honoring God's purpose for your life.

There are so many courageous men of God in the Bible but I couldn't help but notice Paul. He dedicated his life fervently with such passion and purpose to preaching the gospel; like him, I am hoping that you will take the journey with me— A journey filled with passion, purpose and love for a creator whose love is never ceasing....

This is my story; this is God's vision...

Childhood

My childhood was extraordinarily ordinary, filled with little girl things: such as playing dolls house; and playing “dirty pot” the Jamaican way of saying something very American; “playing with “mud pies. My creative play yielded a handsome husband who would lay beside me at night, helped with the children, and would love and protect me. I played

In God's Vision, author K.R. Levine's life takes her from the comfort of her childhood home in Jamaica with her loving, pious, grandmother, and religious aunt to a journey across the sea. America's promise was darkened by a failing marriage, and an unhappy home. An emergency C-section suddenly left her fighting for her life with a mysterious illness that confounded her doctors. It was during this dark period, in the hospital, that she received a vision from God. She wrote this book to share this vision—hoping that the faith of the believer would be strengthened. She is hoping that the non-believer will discover that God is a living, awesome, loving being. He loves us more than we can ever imagine.

She acknowledges the spiritual faithfulness and Biblical institutions of her grandmother and aunt which helped shaped her life. An early relationship with God enabled a reliance on "faith" while learning what was happening in the hospital. She identified with the struggles of Biblical characters like Jonah, Samuel, Joseph and especially the woman who clung to Jesus' garment, hoping that she would be healed. These characters had one thing in common "faith": In exercising their "faith"; their lives were forever changed. In the middle of the night she was blessed under the Navel orange tree; she believes God's anointing will enable her to reach millions with his message of hope. This book is dedicated to that purpose.
